Artist group OBSERVATORIUM presents it's overview of 25 years PUBLIC ART FOR PUBLIC LIFE

nai010 publishers
Rotterdam – 2022

We like our public works of art to be a common good, to create a sense of place and to be used.

An observatory is a place for the observation of the universe. The artists of Observatorium cast their gaze upon the inhabited world. They have created works of art that are not only to look at, but also to enter, observe and reflect from. Observatorium produced an internationally significant body of work, from the monumental sculpture Zandwacht (Sand Watch) in the Port of Rotterdam to Dwelling in Seclusion, a work of art devoted to solitude in New York.

The works of art are emblematic of their surroundings, whether they are in a residential area in transition or an industrial landscape that is being transformed into a nature reserve, and are intended to help visitors and local residents find meaning and a future in these changes.

Public Art for Public Life is a summary publication in which the members of Observatorium collected their reflections on the ideas, uses and lessons of their body of work on the interface between architecture, sculpture and landscape. Key issues are the creative process, integration in changing (urban) landscapes, public participation and imagination. The result is a book full of inspiring examples of the power of art in the public realm.

Text, illustration, photography and editing: Observatorium – Geert van de Camp, Andre Dekker, Lieven Poutsma, Ruud Reutelingsperger - www.observatorium.org

Introduction, interviews and co-editing: Sandra Smets, art historian

Foreword: Wouter Veldhuis, urbanist and chief government advisor

Afterword: David Moinard, Atelier Delta, public art curator

Graphic design, lithography and co-editing: Yvo Zijlstra - Antenna-Men

Translation: InOtherWords, D'Laine Camp & Maria van Tol

Final Editing: Andre Dekker

Advice: Arie Lengkeek - Commongrounds, Landa van Vliet - Kunstenaarsassistentie

Production: Laurence Ostyn, nai010 publishers

Printer: Grafistar

Financial support: Creative Industries Fund NL, Stichting Bevordering Volkskracht, Jurriaanse Stichting, Pictoright

Order your copy here: www.nai010.com/observatorium

English | 17 x 24 cm | 288 pages | 255 drawings and photographs full color

ISBN 978-94-6208-668-5